11. Fifty thousand troops are in the mountain Soduryu-san (CU 4351) (127-11, 39-18).
12. One hundred thousand* troops are dug in the hills south of Kumhwa (127-28, 38-17). They are reported to be elements of one North Korean and two Chinese Communist divisions. The headquarters of the North Korean 169 Division, 3 Corps, is at Kumhwa, and this division was ordered to fight a delaying action on the central and eastern front.
13. The two thousand Chinese Communist and three thousand North Korean troops which left Wonsan wearing civilian clothes are living in small villages in the Wonsan area.
14. There is a large concentration of Chinese Communist troops in the Pokto (CU 378370) area.
15. The Chinese Communist 41 and 38 Armies are reported in action north of Seoul.

25X1A [REDACTED] Comment. For other recent reports on the same subject see

25X1A

25X1A * [REDACTED] Comment. The figure is much too high for elements of three divisions.

25X1A  [REDACTED] Comment. Available order-of-battle does not show the Chinese Communist 41 Army in Korea. Perhaps the 40 or 42 was meant.
